ELECTION CANCELLED! DIEF SEIZES ARMY

RICK ROSS
Political Editor

The November 8th election has been cancelled! A conservative coup in Ottawa has ousted the government of Prime Minister Pearson. Led by Tory chief John Diefenbaker, the coup seized control of the army and marched on the Parliament Buildings demanding Pearson's resignation. A group of 500 university students joined the march believing that it was an anti-U.S. demonstration.

N.D.P. leader T. C. Douglas termed the move 'obviously undemocratic' and indicated he would request that the U.N. intervene. In an exclusive Toike interview he suggested that a U.N. peace force led by a National Liberation Front Observation Team would be a possible solution.

Pearson supporters have fled the capital, but are regrouping at a bar in nearby Hull to discuss strategy. A Liberal spokesman, Gianetto Dunfano, suggested that Canadian troops in Cyprus might still be loyal to Mr. Pearson and it is understood that several battalions are already being airlifted back to Canada on R.C.A.F. Bomarcas. Their arrival date is uncertain.

Mr. Diefenbaker in an address to the nation stated anyone found flying a maple-leaf flag would be tried for treason and executed. Production of the red ensign has already started in factories all over the land including the S.A.C. printing bureau. Mr. Diefenbaker added that the U.S. will be asked to pick up its nuclear warheads from Northern Ontario within thirty days, or we will point them the other way and return them ourselves.

Lucien Rivard, contacted at his home in Texas (the Houston Jail) said he was "disappointed" in Diefenbaker. He added, "I never did like violence".

The new P.M. announced sweeping reforms including recognition of the Engineering Society and Red China. Diefenbaker reasoned that in this way China might pay for grain in shipments of rice, which he eats for breakfast.

Another refrain will be the abolition of university, an obvious solution to the fees problem. At press time a counter coup was being organized by Mr. Guy Markoo which had behind it the "full resources of the F.L.Q. and other peace research groups".

WHAT ARE YOUR CHANCES?

IF: You know a girl with an apartment

Then for:

F = % chance of getting her alone in the apartment

N = number of room-mates

Q = hours at work or school per day

S = hours eating and sleeping per day

it is true that

$$F = (24 - (Q + S)) \times 100\%$$

24N

If you wish to get further, you must calculate F! where  $F! = F \times K$

K is a factor of conditions and is made up of the Acceptance ratio which you must determine by prior knowledge of the initial conditions of the apparatus (girl). Where  $F \times K$  is greater than 100 then it must be multiplied by the mathematic constant,  $i = \text{root } (-1)$ .

Reluctance!

She yaps at monks and chases birds,
Loves donkey bells and buffalo flaps,
And fills her gizzard by watching walls
And gobbling lizards as they fall.

INDUSTRIAL CLUB

PLAYBOY By PLAYGIRL

PLAYGIRL: Could you give a report on what your club has been doing?

BUNNYBOY: Well, we've made the final arrangements for the Industrial-Mechanical Dance. The particulars are:

Place: Lord Simcoe, Ontario Room

Time: November 12, 1965

Bar opens at 8:00 p.m.

Band starts at 9:00 p.m.

Dance ends at 1:00 p.m.

Band: Twilights (they were at the At Home last year)

The way I see it, the more Industrials the fewer, the Mechanicals.

And we bought 2 girls at the Share Auction. They were allotted to first and third years. I hear Les Segal won the third year girl. I suspect something there. And...

PLAYGIRL: Thank you, Bunnyboy. (Aside) Give a man an inch and they take a column.

MECHANICAL CLUB

Included with this article there should be a picture of Jim Hall's "Chaparral". As you probably know, this car represents a successful engineering experiment carried out by a mechanical engineer. The principal distinguishing feature of the car (besides its phenomenal success) is the unique (and secret) automatic transmission. All this just goes to show that Mechanical Engineering does offer interesting stuff, regardless of what you have to put up with at school.

The really big shew at this time is the giant, gala, stupendous mechanical-INDUSTRIAL DANCE. (Ed. note, Ha... Ha!). It swings out in the superfabulous Ontario Room of the Lord Simcoe Hotel on Friday November 12. The Mechanical Club has initiated a quota system on ticket sales this year which can result in a PRICE REDUCTION.

For the details of this system, please query your class reps. By the way, the music will be provided by the TWILIGHTS, the great group who entertained us at last year's AT HOME. There will be a beautiful BAR provided and the evening should be a blast. There seems to be a pitiful lack of enthusiasm in the Second (especially) and Third years. Come on, boys; this is your dance and your money is being spent on it. Overcome your initial inertia (get the lead out) and plan on attending.

DID YOU KNOW?

1) That the Blue and White Society attracts over 80,000 persons to name attractions and other entertainment at rock bottom prices every school year?

2) Some of the activities this year are: 12 dances (including Saturday nights after footgall games), free skating parties after the Blues home hockey games, Ski Weekend — probably to the Quebec Eastern Townships, Ian & Sylvia and Rich Little at the Winter Carnival Show, and the third largest parade in Toronto on the Homecoming Weekend.

3) The Blue & White Society is open to anyone who wishes to join. Just come to the meetings Tuesdays at 7:30 P.M. in the South Sitting Room of Hart House or talk to the reps from your college or faculty.

4) The reps are: Doug Burnett, IV Chemical, Ian Campbell, IV Industrial.

PRESIDENT

REPORTS

By F. E. S. VALLO, Eng. Soc. President

We finally have a first year president. She is Esther Varga in First year Chemical. Our best wishes go out to her.

However the fact remains that there was a particularly poor response for this position from first year. I hope that as the year goes on we will get a good response from the first year as far as the dance committees and other activities are concerned. There are excellent opportunities to meet new friends on these committees and to have a lot of fun. The Cannonball is coming and Wayne Dickey is organizing this dance committee. He will need help, so come on out. This applies to the upper years as well.

In this way as new executives are elected people who know what is going on will be able to fill the new position.

Skule Nite will be playing from November 23 to November 27th rather than a week earlier as had been reported previously. Tickets will soon go on sale.

* * *

Our congratulations to the new School of Library Science Students' Council. They are located on the corner of McCaul and College next to the Elm. We hope to hear more from this new group on campus.

* * *

While McGill Weekend is still fresh in your mind I would like to draw your attention to the POLYCANN EXCHANGE. Applications are now available from Bill Coome, the second Vice-President. The program has been arranged for a great weekend. For an explanation of the weekend see the article elsewhere in the paper.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

On October 14th we asked you to participate to a greater extent in campus activities. We were pleased when on the 16th you all showed up for the football game (although we noticed that U.C. was very poorly represented). If you continue to cooperate with us in this fashion, we'll soon have this campus back on it's feet.

Naturally the athletic directorate were filled with admiration and gratitude, but when they approached us with tokens of their appreciation, we modestly said "Nay, we alone are not to thank for this mighty feat. We received help in the form of a cordial welcome by the Metro police force. They are a swell bunch."

SECOND THINGS SECOND —

Do the students of New College have no sense at all. MUST they continue to beat a dead horse. Their Gnu's Paper 'MUST' edition was not only a flagrant insult to common decency but also it was a helluva good idea. We wish they hadn't used it, so we might of.

NEW ARRIVALS

We'd like to welcome the students of the Faculty of Librarial Science and those of the Ontario College of Art. To accommodate these new readers we were forced to drop off fewer Toike's to U.C., but we didn't cry too much over that.

UPPERCLASS SKULEMEN

Now that you have moved from the crib to the bed, yet find the transition has lost much of its scintillating appeal during the past year or so, why not try hustling a little French Canadian honey in Montreal with everything arranged for you and entirely gratis? Or, how would you like to have a blast on the Cannonball weekend gratis? Eh!!!

On December 3, 4, 5 A.D. 1965, twenty engineers from the University of Montreal will be in Toronto for wine, women, Laurentine skiing, and women. I am looking for nineteen handsome, dashing, intelligent, friendly, fun-loving Skulemen (Like, I'm already number twenty) to uphold the Toronto tradition in the name of POLY-CANN.

Both weekends of fun and frolic are entirely free, although transportation to Montreal will be charged. What is actually going on each weekend will be withheld until I receive your application.

If you have the qualifications and are interested, get your application form at the stores or contact me (Bill Coome, also at the stores) for information.

The Sweet Sound of Success

I should like to draw the attention of anyone who gives a damn, particularly the University of Toronto Athletic Association, to an interesting correlation between the Lady Godiva Memorial Band's schedule of appearances and the scoring success of our glorious intercollegiate football squad. It seems that whenever the band is present, the Blues win. And whenever the L.G.M.B. is absent, they lose. The fact that one loss was a home game not attended by the band (this was an exhibition game) points very strongly to a one-to-one correspondence between victory and the divine presence of the L.G.M.B. This hypothesis will be tested at an away game for the first time this weekend in Montreal. A victory for the Blues would prove that they owe their grid success entirely to the glorious L.G.M.B. And we hope that the U.T.A.A. will see the light in time to cover any expenses the L.G.M.B. might incur by attending a playoff. Let's face it Dalt, it's the only way to win the Yates Cup. It seems that even if the muscle is willing the spirit is required.

And By The Way

Speaking of spirit, wasn't there just a bit too much liquid refreshment at the last football game? I am entirely in favour of having a whale of a good time and all that that incurs but I predict that if things get even a teeny weeny bit more obvious there is going to be a crackdown, promoted by the Administration, adopted by the S.A.C., and enforced by Toronto's finest.

Where

President, C. T. Bissell, in his opening address to the students of the University claimed that the much lamented apathy of the undergraduate population was disappearing, and that much to our delight individuals (meaning oddballs) were springing up all over the place. Where are they? It has been my experience (seen from the bottom of the heap, of course) that nearly all activities of a hell-raising, cultural, or otherwise creative nature are the result of feverish preparation by a very few overworked and unrecognized students, and the price they pay is that of dropping out because of falling academic performance. The rest of the population is sheeplike and uninteresting and direct observation would seem to indicate that the proportion of sheep, if anything, is rising.

For Neurotics

If you, dear reader, are completely fed up with life, months behind in your work, pale and sickly from hours of study, bone weary from climbing the stairs to the fourth floor of the Galbraith Building (the world's steepest staircase), frustrated from hours of plowing through Playboy alone, depressed by your singular failure to score with the opposite sex, and thirsty, THEN pack your bags and head to Montreal. Things aren't any better there but you'll be feelin' no pain. Medical scientists claim that the McGill Weekend is a form of release and a comfort to all sorts of imaginary illnesses. Whoopee!

A LETTER FROM P & OT

A LETTER FROM AN ENGINEER

CHIVALRY LOST?

(P&OT thinks they just found it)

Previous to homecoming weekend, the P&OT float was lost — not unable to be found, but unable to be had. Those vile, corrupt and vulgar Engineers had to be told! Because they had so willingly agreed to help us construct our float, we would have to let them know that we would no longer have a float in the parade. BUT....

much to our amazement those sweet, energetic, trustworthy and surprisingly enough extremely gentlemanly Engineers promised us a float! For hours on Thursday night, the President and Vice-President, the Yearbook Editor and the Engineering Society Janitor pulled strings and ropes, rang numbers, phoned new fathers, and interrupted a meeting of the Teamsters Union to get out truck.

With undying effort and never-failing hope, these darling Engineers found us a float at 4:30 Friday! That nite, their sacrifice continued with remarkable organization — despite a quite uncooperative crowd — until the best P&OT float for years past had been erected. Do you think we appreciated it?

Well.... WE SURE DID!!! So.... THANKS SKULE.... YOU'RE GREAT!

And if you girls think ALL Engineers are vile, corrupt and vulgar — we'd advise you to take a good long second look.

P&OT

Skule.

What is it? A mis-spelled herd of fish? The drinking curse of a drunken Swede? Or the bell-ringing, trumpet-blowing name of the greatest undergraduate group on this campus?

Is it the raw enthusiasm, spirit and pride of 1500 Engineers? Or is it the initiative, originality, and sacrifice of the Engineering Society Executive? Is it the prestige, the symbol of the Cannon? The madcap humour and the spontaneous enthusiasm of the LGMB? The excitement, fun, and satisfaction of a successful, imaginative BFC caper? Or the recognition and prestige of a battered, worn-out Engineering jacket?

Skule is all of these. Skule is Lady Godiva riding her horse across front campus, the Toike Oike and the Turke Urke, the LGMB closing City Hall, Freshmen and Forests, the Engineering section of Varsity Stadium at a football game, the Cannon, the Warden McCulley presentation, McGill Weekend, and the barbeque Eat-In on front campus in the middle of two soccer games.

But mostly, Skule is an image. It is an image created and preserved by a small proportion of the Engineering Society Executive, a dozen imaginative, daring, determined, and unbelievably dedicated Engineers for whom it is often necessary not only to skip classes, but meals as well. It is an image of which other undergraduate groups are admittedly envious, and of which Engineers are fiercely proud. The image they are crating (views of POTs and Nurses are expressed elsewhere on this page) is one we can indeed take pride in. IT IS UNFORTUNATE THAT THIS IMAGE IS NOT A TRUE ONE. It isn't, because there is another part of Skule we are rather more reluctant to talk about. Maybe we should.

Skule is other things too. Skule is most of 1500 Engineers who have no interest in what must be done to maintain their tradition as the most spirited and carefree of the college men, so long as somebody does it, and they never get involved personally. Skule is hundreds of Engineers who have never gone to the Cannonball, haven't the time to see Skule Nite, and probably won't go to the At-Home.

Skule is class representatives who never bothered picking up School Dinner tickets. Skule is a hundred drunken, bottle smashing obnoxious Engineers at the POTs-Nursing-Skule Float Building who made it practically impossible for an equal number of REAL engineers to effectively organize the work to be done. Skule is lazy, irresponsible members of the Engineering Society, whose workload must be shouldered by someone else. Skule is the lunatic fringe who fail to comprehend that the BFC is a FUN organization. Skule is a small number of immature clots who figure that Engineers are SUPPOSED to be vulgar, boorish and usually stoned.

Do you know who REALLY built your Homecoming Float? Two fourth year Engineers, one third year Engineer, one first year Engineer, and one mad, mad, wonderful first year P&OT girl! While you were getting looped at the football game, in the "proper Skule spirit", these same people — who had not yet had any sleep — were behind the Borden building tearing apart your float and cleaning up your God-awful mess.

of QUEENS fans, who were the only ones who displayed any interest in riding with us! This is spirit?

And does anybody remember those gorgeous young Skule cheerleaders, riding the fenders of our tractor and a-go-go dancing with the LGMB? The same ones who represented SPS in the Homecoming Game, when ALL the faculties and colleges had their cheerleaders on the field? Good. Because if it hadn't been for second year P&OT, who DEMANDED we let them cheer for us, the Engineers would not have had any cheerleaders!

Not being able to think of a lower depth to which the Engineering image could sink, perhaps we shall stop at this. For there is a point to be made here, gentlemen: made deeply and lasting. Each one of you owes a sincere debt of gratitude to five swinging girls from II P&OT who saved your reputation as a Skulman and Engineer from being shot all to Hell! Remember that.

You did not deserve it. For a group that is collectively so preoccupied and openly proud of its role as the backbone of U of T spirit (no offense to Jim Kenzie and staff) your individual and collective responses when asked to show a little of the enthusiasm you so readily boast of are quite remarkable.

If you want to get drunk and throw beer bottles and start fights at a float building party, and you think that THIS is what Skule spirit is all about, OK. If you figure it's great to be an Engineer and Skule Nite desperately needs set builders and isn't that a shame, OK. If you tell all your friends the Cannonball is the greatest dance on campus and of courses you're going and it's too bad everybody ELSE doesn't care enough to help decorate, OK.

Probably someone on the executive will skip a few more classes and lose a few more hours sleep and miss a few more lunches and cover up for you by doing it all himself.

But someday he may grow a little sick of this. Someday there may not BE an Engineering float when you sober up. And there may not BE any Skule Nite when you go to buy tickets, and maybe this year there won't BE any Cannonball decorations.

THEN WERE WILL YOU AND YOUR PRECIOUS IMAGE BE?

Engineers:

On behalf of the students at the School of Nursing, I would like to thank you for your assistance in building our float for the homecoming parade. I would especially like to thank the four engineers who worked diligently on our float until after midnight when they could well have been working on their own float.

All the girls agree it was a worthwhile evening and lots of fun too!

Thank you again,
Judy Gasson,
Nursing III.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM NURSING

Dear Sir,

As the time grew shorter before the Engineering auction last Friday, the nursing students who had been persuaded to be sold for Share, discovered that stark terror had supplanted all initial enthusiasm. The prospect of standing, quite alone, before five hundred engineers seemed to promise only shattered egos, frayed nerve ends and emotional exhaustion. Such apprehension was quite unnecessary.

The purpose of this letter is to thank all the engineers for their enthusiasm and in particular, to thank the wonderful guys who organized the auction. They treated us with respect, sympathized with all our fears and bolstered our sagging spirits with reassurances. Forgive us if we are putting a mark on your reputation as "the rowdy engineers."

Sincerely,

And does anybody really CARE why we only placed in the semi-finals? Not because our float wasn't GOOD enough; because it was. We lost because 1496 Engineers didn't give a damn! Leaving the staging point between two flat beds filled with wildly enthusiastic Nurses POTs, and Engineers, OUR 42 foot low bed carried two lone Nurses who felt sorry for us! Our performance before the judges was unquestionably the most unenthusiastic and unexciting among all 24 entries. THIS can probably be traced to the fact that our floa was full

A SKULEMAN'S ARMOUR AGAIN

As you walk across front campus, have you ever looked around you at this great teeming university and suddenly felt very small? Do you often think of yourself as one of many helpless sausages being processed by a giant meat-packing machine? If you are an Artsman, you have every right to feel insignificant; but if you are an Engineer, this idea will never occur to you, for on your back is the most powerful confidence-builder in the world — your Engineering jacket!

There are many freshmen who I suspect do not realize the full potentialities of the standard Engineering jacket. With technical wizardry that borders on pure genius, they are manufactured the most unassuming yet effective protective garment known to science. What seems to be ordinary corduroy can actually stand a direct hit from a three-inch armour piercing shell, an anti-tank land mine donation, and the combined output of six fifty-calibre pea shooters.

On the other hand, this same material is very pliable and soft to the touch. As any averagely-sexed girl will attest, the desire to stroke and cuddle an Engineering jacket (and all therein) is so strong, that it often surges beyond her control. When a Skuleman puts on his jacket he is, in effect, both irresistible and indestructible.

Some foolish individuals may question the necessity for such extraordinary safeguards in a simple Skule jacket. These people obviously have never wandered through Vic singing Godiva, or inadvertently stood under Trinity Arch when a cake fight was imminent. If it hadn't been for their trusty jackets many good Engineers would have long ago bitten the dust as the result of a high velocity beer bottle or a close range cherry bomb.

With all worry of physical harm removed, it is not hard to see why the wearers of Engineering jackets are brimming with self-confidence. This confidence is the actual root of the lusty and carefree attitude displayed by all Skulemen; this is what elevates them from the neurotic masses!

Propaganda Page

It's hard to realize that there are thousands of arts-men slouching around the campus who (if they have heard of it at all) probably think that the BFC is a political party, a terrorist group, etc. For the novitiate, the BFC (standing for the Brute Force Committee) is a hard-core group of individuals dedicated to the preservation of the engineer's image — however twisted it may be. This then is their story:

Formerly known as the Anti-Artsmen Association, the title was revised in 1959 to the awe-inspiring name of Brute Force Committee. Its creation came about when several engineers noticed snickering arts-men whenever an Engineer appeared.

Today a powerful organization exists that extends its control to all corners of the world (Last year it was accidentally listed by the U. S. Senate Committee on Un-American Activities). Few people, except for desperate Artsmen, try to buck this wave of power.

The leader of this brave faction is Sean O'Shilleigh.

scourge of the masses. He is protected by a select corps of 35 hour/week toughened skulmen.

Hence artsmen, whenever you see a BFC man, walk quietly past with your head bowed and be grateful if he should so much as look at you.

Let us now pay homage to that distinctive piece of formal attire — the Engineering jacket. Worn proudly by Engineers, it demonstrates the ultimate of fashion design for the aware engineer. Join the 'in-crowd' and wear an engineering jacket (any artsman found wearing such shall incur the perpetual wrath of the BFC).

Our last item of distinction is the much-prized school cannon — once sought before the Bomarc as the ultimate weapon. Its mighty roar instills fear into spastic hearts of artsmen. Bright and gleaming, it shines as a symbol of strength and unity — an example of Engineering power.

Treat all aforementioned insigniae with due respect and the proper amount of awe.

STRIPPER WISHES NEW COLLEGE STUDENTS HAD MORE MONEY

Libby Jones (B.A.) expressed deep regret to Keith Large (I Gen Sci-New) that she brought only $ 107.00 to the Share campaign. After having conveniently shipped his girlfriend to Switzerland he accompanied her to dinner at Peppio's helped her dress for her show at the Victory, and concluded this exciting evening with a game of chess (Keith is an Arts student) at the Bohemian Embassy. She makes some of her own clothes but she is not very good at it; "They are very flimsy!", he commented, visibly shaken at this lack of skill. Asked how he reacted to having her nonchalantly change clothes while he was present, he said, "I sat down". (Keith Large is an Arts student). His general impressions were that she is good-looking, (ed note: this is reasonable — the value of the descriptive function (apprecial) -burst measure at its age still positive), well educated, had a good knowledge of music, drama, Shakespeare . . . (Keith Large is an Arts student).

DO YOU PLAN TO GRADUATE?

THEN YOU ALSO PLAN TO JOIN THE A.P.E.O. —

THAT'S A FACT

Some day you're going to be an Engineer, and that means you will want to join the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. The 22,000 Professional Engineers (P. Eng.) in the Province all belong!

WHY JOIN NOW?

FOR ONE DOLLAR

- You become a recorded Engineering Student and receive the Association's elliptical rubber stamp containing your name, university, and graduating year.
- Each month you receive "The Professional Engineer and Engineering Digest", the handbook of the Association and the pulse of the profession. (Normal subscription rates are $15.00!)
- You become eligible for the A.P.E.O. Group Life Insurance Plan ($25,840 of Term Insurance for $40.00 per year).
- You receive aid and counsel from men who know your field. Remember, we've all gone through Engineering just as you're doing now, and we understand the problems you face.

AFTER GRADUATION:

While you gain the necessary two years of engineering experience, you may be recorded as a Graduate-Engineer-in-Training. Finally, when you become a Professional Engineer, we'll welcome you again.

TREASURE VAN

TIME :
MONDAY NOVEMBER 8th to FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 12th 1965

PLACE :
WOMEN'S UNION THEATRE
79 .ST. GEORGE STREET

ORIGINAL PLAYBOY TO OPEN TREASURE VAN

Bob Cummings of Photographic fame will be present to send up the balloon; What Balloon? The one opening the Treasure Van of course !

At 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday afternoon, November 9th a tea (I know, ugh ! ) will inaugurate Treasure Van. This is an opportunity for those of you who are international and cosmopolitan to give Christmas gifts with an international flavour. Objects from 30 countries will be on sale from 10:00 A.M. to 10:00 P.M., Monday November 8th to Friday November 12th

Perhaps some suave hints on Balloon cutting can be picked up at this time. I'm sure Bob won't mind some serious students observing him at work.

L.G.M.B. INTERNATIONAL-A-GO-GOES

Yes, the Lady Godiva Memorial Band goes International. Why don't you join the band wagon on Monday at 1:00 p.m. From the south campus, the L. G. M. B. will be leading a peace march to the Treasure Van.

This is an important University of Toronto contact with the international set. Meet in front of the Little Red Skule House prepared to view the "wonders of the world", at the Treasure Van sale displayed in the Women's Union Theatre, 70 St. George Street.

This march will sweep across the front campus to the official student opening of the exotic display and sale of international handicrafts.

COME AND SEE/COME AND BUY ENGINEERS GUARD TREASURE

As many other faculties are supporting Treasure Van by selling the various objects from around the world, serving as stockboys and cashiers, the Engineers are doing something for Treasure Van, uniquely their own.

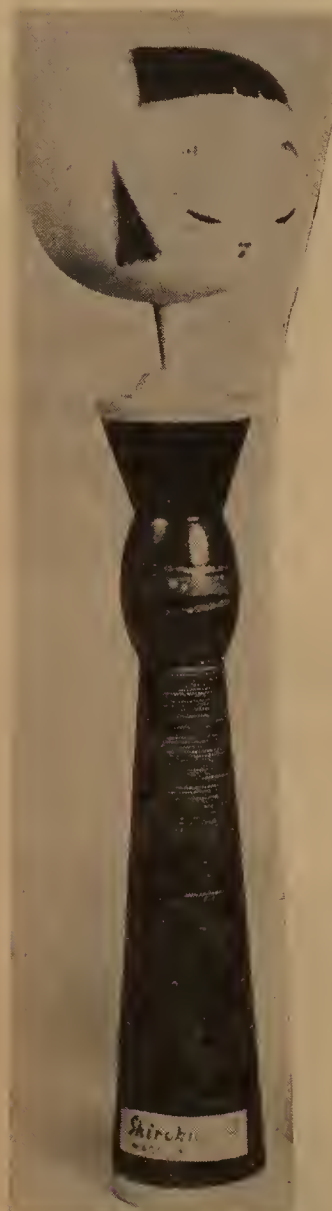

They are providing a band of stalward and true men to guard the exit and entrance to Treasure Van. With the able assistance of Alex Husseck, a guard was formed which will change on the hour. Two Engineers will be on duty hourly from 4:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, November 8th to 12th, at the Women's Union Theatre, 79 St. George Street

If there are any able-bodied and true-hearted Engineers who have not volunteered for this duty of honour for the World University Service and would like to give an hour of their time to a worthwhile cause — please phone Alex Hussick at New College Residence !

LOOK, MOM, I'M ON T.V.

I'm on television and so will you be ! Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Treasure Van Tea, CBC crews will portray the University in Action for it's brothers. Treasure Van supports our less fortunate brothers in other Universities (no-not McGill; ones like South India U.)

Wouldn't you like your parents to see you on T.V. at 6:30 that same night supporting this cause? Come and be seen throughout the land on "Across Canada" Even Lady Godiva on her White Horse will see you

Skule Nite 6T6

Shakespeare had his "Hamlet" and Voltaire his "Candide", but no man can match that stab in the back to all dramatic art (produced by the Eng. Soc.) — SKULE NITE 6T6. All previous productions pale in comparison to the magnificent conglomeration of nothing that will be thrown at a howling and cheering audience this fall (Thurs. Nov. 23 through Sat. Nov. 27).

The Varsity will injure another successful season by panning the entire production; while weary Artsmen will intone "Apathy Blues" as they bemoan the fact that they had not attempted to obtain tickets for this show before it was sold out entirely.

Meanwhile, for those who are able to obtain tickets (and for those who want to buy them a week before the production from the scalpers at the Engineering Stores or at the Hart House box office), we will take this opportunity to give them a slight, but intimate, preview of what to expect.

A lovely and curvaceous girl comes on stage. She is joined by another and another. Soon the entire stage is filled by these delightful creatures as their bodies are caught in the harsh rhythms of the large band. The audience sits mesmerised by the swaying breasts and hips until the curtain falls. And the hall re-echos with wild applause that brings down the house, literally (hopefully, the engineers provided for this technicality when they designre Hart House Theatre).

The dancing, once again, is choreographed by Arline Patterson, who has performed this study so successfully in the previous years. Musically, the show is under the direction of Terry Dmytryshyn (with moral support given by Peter Grant).

As in all other cases certain problems have arisen. What, for instance, is the Engineering answer to the St. Lawrence Centre? Why feed bassoons bananas? Who is that Sir Walter Raleigh guy?

These questions and many others have been raised and answered by a team of ten script writers who, through the opium fumes, take an opportunity now and then to put some of their earth-shaking insights down on paper. These Hieroglyphs have been interpreted and rearranged for your enjoyment by Fred Ben Benzaquen, Bob Loughney, and Bill McQueen (all good candidates for 999).

At this point we would like to say Skule Nite a Go-Go, but we won't, although we already have. We'll see you at Skule Nite 6T6.

SOCCER:

SR. ENGINEERING

Our Senior team, which has won the Arts Faculty cup for 3 years in a row now, is on its way to a fourth consecutive Championship. Early in the fall BILL COLE GARTH ROTHWELL, EUGENIO MARROTTA, BERN DE ABREU and HELMUT BROSZ, were all practicing with the Blues, and to everyone's surprise BILL COLE and HELMUT BROSZ did not make their starting line up and were relegated as reservists.

This year, our Soccer Commissioner, OLI CAJANEK, sees nothing but silverware. After all, everyone of last year's team is on the roster which includes RICK HONIG, STEVE SHUPER, JANI SIMANOVSKIS, LAM LAU, OLI CAJANEK, JANEZ KOCMUR and goalie DAG FURST.

Our defense was beefed up by the addition of Steve Leventis and winger Steve Summers, both two rookies of top notch caliber.

The Seniors started off their season as expected by shutting out St. Mike's 2-0. They expected their toughest game against them. As you will recall St. Mike's were beaten only 3-2 in last years final.

Next Trinity was crushed 3-1. Meds suffered a 2-0 setback and PHE was also beaten 2-0. In their latest game sloppy play resulted in a halftime score of 1-0 for Graduate School. However our boys came back and crushed them 6-1.

Our Top Scorers	Goals
Helmur Brosz	3
Bern Deabreu	3
Eugenio Marrotta	3
Garth Rothwell	2
Bill Cole	2
Oli Cajanek	1
Janez Vocmur	1

Our goalie Dag Furst has registered his third shutout and has let in only 2 goals in 5 games. Coach Helmut Brosz believes that he is a cinch to make the All-Star team.

JR. ENGINEERING

Our Junior team composed mainly of veterans, showed their style by smothering UC II 4:1 in their league opener. This year they are playing in Group B and with twice as good a team and half the competition they are singled out as taking first place. Manager Lam Lau says that the addition of Steve Birochky and Mike Daschtschuk has solidified the defense, while forwards V. Korsh and Chubukian have pumped in the goals. Our Soccer experts predict that this team will probably wind up playing Sr. Engineering in the finals.

Flash!! Sports score: They have just trounced VIC II to the tune of 7-0.

ENGINEERING III

This year's third squad composed mainly of freshmen played to a scoreless tie in their opening game of the season. Henry Kaluzensky led the defense while the forwards failed to cash in on penalty kicks and other golden opportunities. Manager Mike Daschtschuk (SGS) says the SPS III could be a hot contender along with Jr. engineering.

1ST YEAR

REPRESENTATIVE

Applications will be accepted at the Engineering Stores for a 1st year representative to serve on the engineering Athletic Association. Applications should state experience pertaining to the position. Applications will be accepted up to November 10.

BASKETBALL

Senior Skule this year will be coached by intercollegiate all star Vlad Baranowicz. Last year Senior Skule beat out a strong UC team which proved to be the upset of the year in intramural sports. This year we plan on being the favourites with no upset!

With three weeks of practice behind them, Senior Skule is ready for the November 24 opening. Jr. Skule has a nucleus but anyone who still wishes to play is urged to attend the practices. Freshmen are reminded that full credits may be received for playing intramural basketball.

VOLLEYBALL

This year the intercollegiate volleyball team has called on engineering to provide some of last year's champions for the upcoming college competition.

Walter Rosocha, Tony Omno and Marcus Esmits are still with the team, with only the final cut remaining. In spite of this Senior Engineering is on par with last year's championship. Intramural rules allow one varsity player on each team, so Tony Omno remains with the team while Walter Rosocha is coaching. Also returning are Barry Clark, Janez Simanovskis and John Vinclers.

They have already marked up two victories against Vic and Innis. Neither team provided any challenge for the Skule powerhouse.

RUGGER

Eng. II is not a new rugger team on the back campus. As Eng. I they went all the way to the first division quarter finals last year before injuries forced an end to a long string of close victories.

This year the team is playing in the fifth group but

FOOTBALL

Having suffered a defeat at the hands of Vic on their first game, Skule retired to the practice-field with nothing but hard work in mind. In the cold and drizzly weather they managed to reorganize both offensive teams into two solid units. The second game scheduled against St. Mikes was postponed due to a heavy downpour. Again Skule returned to the muddy practice to prepare for U.C.

The improvement the team made over that time was clearly shown Friday Oct. 29 as U.C. was crushed under a powerful defensive attack led by Leicht Squires, Brown, and Sheldon. The offense proved to be just as strong. Quarter-back Glen Kats elected to stay on the ground using the pass only as a surprise element to loosen up U.C. defense. As a result, Pete Andrews scored the first touch down early in the second quarter on a 30 yard pass and run play from Kats.

Skule threatened to score again at the end of the second quarter with a first down on the U.C. 12 yard line but with only one play remaining, the U.C. defense managed to stop the attack.

The second half proved to be a much closer contest although we were never once in any danger. In the final quarter we sewed up the game when U.C. fumbled a punt in "their" own endzone which was recovered by alert Uwe Natho who played a fine game at offensive guard.

So the game ended 14-0 and a jubilant Skule team retired to prepare for Vic.

is stranger than ever with the addition of former rugger players. Don Holmes, Don Kaikkonen and Mike Lundgreen. Most of last years team and an able newcomer Ted Simonen, have formed a team with the other three players that has so terrified the rest of the league that in the first three games only five players have dared to face them.

Lack of action has not hindered this remarkable squad. 8 A.M. practices almost every morning of the week keep the team in shape for the bigger games yet to he played. Gord Roberts suffered their first injury when he required stitches to close a wound received in a practice game between the two halves of their own team.

Three victories are credited to this team so far this year and one game has been played.

They defeated New College 12-0 on some fine running and quick thinking of Oli Cajanek who scored two tries. Norbert Fischer and Ted Simonen also counted with one each.

It looks like more victories are in store.

SOCIETY WEEKEND

By LYNNE LOVELY

Not so long ago, a group of handsome, suave and personable young men and their charming ladies was expected at Caledon Hart House Farm for the weekend. However, they never showed up and the Engineering Society Executive came instead.

Contrary to previous reports, President Frank Vallo showed up on Friday night. However, about 11:00 that night, he passed out on the chesterfield in the living room — asleep, of course. The rest of the group spent most of the evening becoming better acquainted with their dates and by about 2:00 a.m., all were ready for bed.

We have had, however, a few suggestions about the flies in the girls' dorm. Mainly, these suggestions consist of — Get Rid of Them. And so, to the sound of squishing flies, we passed into Slumberland.

That evening, for some reason, although it was almost freezing outside, most of the group decided that they wanted to go down to the sauna. And so they went. And they didn't come back until about 1:00.

At that time, the girls decided that they didn't want to sleep in the dorm with the flies again, so we started to convince the boys that they should sleep in the living room. Finally, upon being told that we were expecting the Assistant Warden of Hart House the next morning, the boys reluctantly moved their bedding out of the room into which the girls had already moved. Unfortunately, the Assistant Warden never showed up the next morning.

Sunday was mostly a day to clean up and get ready to go home. Group pictures were taken of Bill Coome, and also of the rest of the Society and their dates. And then the long and painful drive back to Toronto began.

In retrospect, it seems to have been a weekend belonging solely to Frank Vallo. Frank Vallo cooked, cleaned the stove, ate, washed dishes (?), built the fire, cut and carried the firewood, sat in front of the fire, drank the pop, etc., made beds and slept in them, and generally dominated the proceedings with his inimitable personality.

P.S. It was a shame, but the energetic young men in the group left a broken door on the dorm house from a soccer ball. Now even the flies wouldn't stay in there.

MOB VIOLENCE DEPARTMENT

Here one of our super-talented observers takes a look at the 'Land of the Free' and finds

THE K.K.K.

With all the doings about the K.K.K. - vs. - everybody, possibly you can imagine what would happen, say in a small town in Alabama, possibly Selma, when a new Negro family moves in and the local Dragon, serpent, or what-have-you sends — instead of literature — love literature to the family. Imagine a man trying to compose such a letter to send to them and having to edit it.

Hello there.
I would like to welcome you to the fair city of Selma. We at the K.K.K., local 240, sincerely hope you enjoy your trip through here. You will be glad to know that we have temporarily located you in "Ghetto Heights" until your hotel is completed.

Your house warning party commences tomorrow night. We are glad to see people avail themselves of our facilities as advertised in our Chamber of Commerce pamphlets. As you are probably aware, our slogan is: See the country about Selma in the fall: it's a riot of colour".

Because the houses in your area do not yet have minor facilities we would like to point out the locations of several temporarily set up sites. The nearest well to your house is a brisk walk of 1.578 miles from the back door, as the vulture flies.

For anyone who cares to read at night, we have installed 100 watt bulbs in the street lights so they may walk peacefully perusing in single file. Authorized books, with the exception of Uncle Tom's Cabin and other sadistic literature are to be read.

As for job opportunities, I understand that one of your family members holds a Ph. D in botany. We certainly appreciate those of you-all with education and if you would care to present your credentials we would be glad to give you a temporary job as a sampler of agricultural produce.

We would like to acquaint you with certain rules of Selma:

1. When going to church on Sunday, please don't congregate. Our sheriff might mistake you for freedom marchers.

2. A curfew of 7 pm has been imposed so you may get a good night's sleep.

3. The official language for your application forms for qualification for voting has been changed from Icelandic to Iroquois (to help promote biculturalism).

4. Lastly, we would appreciate volunteers for our skin-grafting programme in an effort to heal your suntan.

Hoping you enjoy your stay, I remain
Lionel Bosworth James, Esq.
P.S.

Help stamp out segregation — emigrate.

Author's notes:

Rumour has it that top KKK men have been seeking to purchase several white knights to help them in their clean-up campaign.

I wonder whether a colour-blind white could join the KKK.

The first words a baby in a KKK family says are "Fifth Amendment".

The NAACP has won another round in its struggle.

The Selma court has allowed a freedom march — provided the chains are long enough.
